The malingerers—Each seldom—who no deluged the people of Cincinnati several weeks since and which has been likened to the sabbage of the sea and many other poetic conceptions, will be enjoyed by a select audience in Maysville April 22nd.

The will of the late William Wormald was admitted to record Wednesday. It was written December 10th, 1891, and he bequeathed all his estate, after his debts and funeral expenses were paid, to his wife, to be managed as executrix, with the request that she be permitted to qualify without bond, and that no inventory or appraisement be required of her.

Superintendent Clattery, of the County Infirmary, and his good will gave their annual dining Wednesday in honor of the members of the Fiscal Court. Quite a number of other friends were invited, about seventy-five in all. The tables were washed down with a most temperate and beautiful spread, and it went without saying that the guests all enjoyed it to the full.

A Hazing, Hazing Fixed Washed down a telegraph line which Chas. C. Miller, of Labadie, Ia., had to repair. "Standing waist deep in water," he writes, "was a a terrible cold and cough. It grew more deep. Finally the best doctors in Oakland, Salt Lake City and Omaha and all consumption and could not live. Then I began using Dr. King's New Discovery and was wholly cured by six bottles." Positively guaranteed for coughs, colds and all throat and lung troubles by J. Jay, Wood & Son, Proprietors, and H. Trial bottles free.

A Custom

OF THE AGES

It is that on Easter Day the beautiful shall predominate, for it is the outward manifestation of an inward beauty testifying of a universal sentiment of gladness and good will.

In none of the departments of beautifying on this day is there so much marked effort as in personal adornment.

Cautiously, the effort desired to be produced is not the gaudy one of the elaborate, but correct or rather the artistic in personal ornamenting.

In order to produce this through effectively, use of the most necessary and even indispensable factors is the most and dainty shoe. Without this the otherwise most tastefully appointed man or well groomed woman utterly fails of the effect sought, and disappointment, at the least, follows.

It affords no pleasure to be able to announce, on the approach of the Easter occasion, that there need be no apprehension concerning proper and elegant foot coverings; it may be found in unlimited variety at prices lower than ever known for G.H.S. at the closing sale of

Mr. H. H. Herbert died Wednesday at his home near Hartsdale. He was about fifty-eight years of age. His wife, who was a daughter of Mr. W. L. Parker of March, survives, with four daughters and one son—Mrs. K. F. Moody, of Hartsdale, and Misses Lalah, Ella and Della and William, all residing at the family home. The funeral takes place this afternoon, with services by the Rev. William Morrison, and the burial will be at Olivet Church.

On the 3rd day of March, 1901, just before Congress adjourned a law was passed and is now in force for the benefit of dependent widows of a certain class that reads that where a widow married after the death of her husband who was a soldier, entitling her to a pension and she lost her pension or her right to a pension by such marriage and her second husband died or had been divorced from him on her own application and through no fault of her own, she may by the law just passed be restored to her pension by former or last husband, providing she is dependent on an under age of June 27, 1890, and not of May 30, 1901.

I Don't Want to Worry My Friends Nor The Public, But I Certainly Am Going to Retire From Business,

And at least want my friends and past patrons who have so generously patronized me in the past fourteen years to enjoy the benefit of getting some of the finest Clothing ever brought to Maysville

AT LESS THAN THE COST OF PRODUCTION!

I have never been the one to sing my own song of praise and will not now, on the eve of my retiring from business, but have my old patrons the sole judge of the class of CLOTHING I have always handled. To those who have not had an opportunity to know our Clothing I will ask that you call and look at them. I will soon send what I have left to Cincinnati to be sold to merchants, and many of them may be brought back to Maysville and sold to you at double what I ask for them.
